AMBOY MAN MEETS PAINFUL ACCIDENT

GUY M'ELHANEY HAD HIS FOOT CRUSHED BY FLY WHEEL OF AUTOMOBILE.

VISITED DIXON WITH PARTY OF FRIENDS

Injured Man is Illinois Central Engineer—Foot Amputated Yesterday.

Amboy, June 17—Special—Guy Mc Elhaney, an Illinois Central engineer living in this city, met with a painful accident Monday night while driving an automobile from Dixon, with a party of railroad men.

At the Frank Schnor farm the machine got stuck in the mud and after an investigation it was discovered that the universal joint was broken. One of the men lifted one of the floor boards in order to get to the machinery. McElhaney did not know, or had forgotten, that the board had been removed, and stepped into the opening. The engine was running and the fly wheel caught his left foot, crushing it so badly that it was necessary to amputate the member yesterday afternoon.

The injured man was taken to the Amboy hospital by Dr. Zigler and Officer Barlow, who were notified of the accident and hurried to the scene.

The injured man's parents have arrived from their home at Dakota, Ill. Mr. McElhaney is reported to be resting quite comfortably.

SCHOOL EXERCISES WELL ATTENDED

CHILDREN OF ST. MARY'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL GAVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM.

The Family theatre was crowded to capacity Tuesday evening with many friends and patrons of St. Mary's parochial school, the occasion being the closing exercises of that institution. And the young people taking part in the exercises acquitted themselves with especial credit. The program, which was given as published in this paper last evening, was in two parts, each in the nature of a play. The first part was an operetta, "A Day in the Woods," and it was produced very cleverly, while no flaws could be found in the manner in which the second part was offered. The second part was a comedy, "The Clothes Do Not Make the Man."

COUNCIL WILL MEET.

The City Council and Board of Local Improvement will hold a joint meeting tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the City Hall, at which time the contracts for the eight improvements on which bids were received Monday will probably be let.

MISS SARAH PADDEN IN HURLBURT PLAY

Miss Sarah Padden has "The Fighting Hope" for her use next season; a route has been booked for her. It is not certain, however, that the popular actress will be seen in the play, in fact George Sackett said yesterday there might be a change in favor of a vaudeville tour.

"The Fighting Hope" is by Wm. Hurlburt and was used with success by Blanche Bates. The stellar part is quite suited to Miss Padden, it is believed.

NEXT SUNDAY IS FATHERS' DAY

Next Sunday is Fathers' day and its observance will be general over the United States. The observation, technically speaking, is very simple and requires but the wearing of a red rose in one's buttonhole for the living parent and a white flower in memory of the deceased parent.

WOUNDED MAN DOING WELL

Charles King, whose arm was severely injured by the accidental discharge of a shotgun at the Mensch farm where he was hunting Sunday, is reported by the attending surgeons to be doing fully as well as could be expected and it is not believed that an amputation will be necessary.

KELLEY STARTS WORK.

The J. W. Kelley Concrete company at 11:30 o'clock this morning dumped their first batch of concrete into the big ditch in Highland avenue, which is to be arched over.

GALENA GIRL COMMITS SUICIDE

DEED COMMITTED AT HOME OF HER SISTER IN SAVANNA, THIS STATE.

DRANK DEADLY CARBOLIC ACID

Physician Called But Could Not Save Her Life—Parents at Galena Are Heartbroken.

Savanna, Ill., June 17—Miss Bernice Vandervate of Galena, about 17 years of age, committed suicide at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Kosler, Tuesday morning by drinking carbolic acid.

Miss Vandervate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vandervate of Galena, and about two weeks ago she came to Savanna to visit her sister, Mrs. Kosler. Tuesday morning the latter stepped out of the house and when she returned found her sister lying on the floor unconscious, while at her side was an empty two ounce phial which had contained carbolic acid, and Mrs. Kosler thinks it was about half full.

A doctor was called, but the girl had made sure of death and passed away about 2 o'clock in the afternoon The doctor found that the girl was in serious trouble and this probably weighed so heavily on her mind that she concluded to end it all. She had loved not wisely, but too well. Who the man in the case may be is not known, as Mrs. Kosler had no intimation of the trouble her sister was in.

Her father was called from Galena and will take the body there for burial.

BAD ACCIDENT AVERTED.

A serious smash-up, with possible fatalities was narrowly averted this morning, at the corner of Galena avenue and First street, when the motorcycle ridden by Clarence Barnes, skidded to the walk.

Barnes was riding down First street, and on striking a muddy spot on the pavement, his machine skidded and after a sharp swerve, went out from under him into the curb, just missing a carriage that was turning up Galena avenue. Aside from a couple bruises the unfortunate rider was uninjured.

CLOSED IN AFTERNOON.

County and City offices, the banks barber shops and blacksmith shops will follow the example of the mercantile and manufacturing establishments of the city tomorrow afternoon, in closing for the dedication of Lincoln Park. The county and City offices, banks and blacksmith shops will be closed during the entire afternoon, while the barber shops will be closed between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock.

HORSE ENDANGERED IN QUICKSAND TODAY

ONE OF GEO. CLARK'S ANIMALS NEAR DEATH IN HIGHLAND AVENUE DITCH.

One of J. W. Clark's teams, which has been working for the J. W. Kelley Concrete company in the Highland avenue ditch, which is to be arched with concrete, had a narrow escape from death in the quicksands of the ditch this morning, and only the prompt action of the laborers saved the animal from being swallowed in the treacherous sand.

While hauling earth in the north end of the ditch the horses began to sink in the sand. One animal was able to extricate itself with difficulty, but the other sank steadily despite its frantic efforts to get a foothold. It sank until its hind legs were entirely engulfed in the sucking sand.

Ropes and block and tackle were hurriedly obtained by the workmen and after some very hard work the endangered horse was pulled out of the sand.

STERLING HOSPITAL HAS DONE WELL

AT CLOSE OF FIRST YEAR, AFTER PAYING ALL BILLS HAVE FUNDS LEFT

Sterling, Ill., June 17.—The annual report of the hospital for the fiscal year ending June 1, was presented to the aldermen by Secretary R. A. Kidder of the board.

The report shows that after all bills have been paid and a portion paid on the elevator and other appliances in the new structure that there is a balance of $24.74 still in the treasury.

The receipts for the year including $3,200 received from taxation, and $224 from the county, amounted to $10,589.81, while the expenditures were $10,565.07

POLICEMAN SHOOTS AT AUTOMOBILE CONTAINING NOTABLES

CHAUFFEUR PAYING NO ATTENTION TO OFFICIAL, ANGERED THE OFFICIAL.

(Associated Press.)

Champaign, Ill., June 17— Count Von Bernsdorff, German ambassador to the United States, narrowly escaped death today as his automobile was nearing First and University avenues, on his way to the commencement exercises at the University of Illinois. Michael Murphy, merchant policeman held up his hand as a warning signal, but as Murphy was not in uniform the chauffeur paid no attention to the signal. Apparently at the inattention, Murphy fired one shot point blank at the machine. In the automobile with Von Bernsdorff were Arthur Meeker of Chicago, Vice President Kinley of the University and Dr. Ewarts Green.

NEAR RIOT DISRUPTS WOODMEN MEETING

TROUBLE STARTS WHEN HEAD CONSUL DECLARES MEETING ADJOURNED FOR DAY.

(Associated Press).

Toledo, O., June 17—A near riot between the administration and insurgent forces of the Modern Woodmen of America provoked a call for the police this afternoon and threatened to disrupt the convention. Delegates, spectators and hall furnishings were roughly handled. The trouble started when Head Consul Talbot declared the meeting adjourned until Thursday because the report of the credentials committee was not completed.

NORTHWESTERN SUED FOR $25,000

WOMAN CLAIMS DAMAGES FOR INJURIES SUFFERED IN STEPPING FROM PULLMAN.

A suit to recover $25,000 from the Northwestern railroad and the Pullman Car company was started in the circuit court at Geneva yesterday by Attorneys Howard M. Sapp and Wm. Heise of Joliet, representing Ida Tindall of Chicago, for injuries she claims to have suffered while attempting to alight from a sleeping car at Madison, Wis., on June 1. Only a praecipe was filed in the court.

Miss Tindall is a traveling representative for the Chicago Arts company and is a sister of Alice Tindall, who is private secretary to Warden Edmund Allen at the Joliet penitentiary.

STEPHENSON COUNTY SUPERVISORS RULE

THAT TOWNSHIPS SHOULD PAY "POOR" BILLS—CREATED DISSATISFACTION.

Freeport, June 17—The claims which the poor and county home committee of the board of supervisors refused to allow on the ground that the payment should be made by the town are being turned back to the town clerk. It has created much dissatisfaction among the merchants and is a hardship in many instances, as credit has been extended since February. The town board will not meet until July to pass upon these claims and it is predicted that a large number of them will be rejected, the board holding these are county charges. The ultimate outcome will be law suits, according to those familiar with what is going on.

MYSTERY IN GIRL'S DEATH

Davenport, Ia., June 17—Miss Hilda Anderson, aged 19, was drowned last night near Suburban island. She had been boat riding with another girl, Miss Gladys Starr, and two men, whose names are said to be Meyer and Neuman. The four had been boating two hours. The body was found by Harry Fernsh, a camper on the island. How the accident occurred has not been explained.

ALL READY FOR DEDICATION DAY

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE, BALL PLAYERS WILL MARCH AND BAND WILL PLAY.

RECORD CROWD IS ANTICIPATED

Mayor and Others Will Speak—All Ball Games Will Be Closely Contested.

DEDICATION DAY PROGRAM.

1:00 p. m. Parade, Business section.

1:15 p. m. Dedicatory Addresses at Lincoln Park by Mayor Wm. B. B. Brinton; President E. J. Countryman of Commercial Club; O. H. Martin and George Boynton.

1:30 p. m. Baseball, I. N. U. vs the Brunswicks.

3:30 p. m. Baseball, Stars vs. Buster Browns.

Lincoln park will tomorrow afternoon be dedicated with the most elaborate ceremonies that have attended the opening of any amusement park in the history of Dixon. The commercial interests of the city have given their support to this movement of the Dixon Baseball and Amusement association to provide a suitable place for the young men of the city to play the great national game, and for baseball lovers to find amusement, and accordingly practically every business institution in the city and many of the factories will close for the afternoon in order that the dedication may be a success and it is anticipated therefore that the attendance at the two City league games will form the largest crowd that ever attended a ball game in the history of Dixon.

Parade Downtown.

The dedication ceremonies will begin at 1 o'clock sharp, when a parade of the four teams of the City league, headed by the Dixon Marine band, will march through the business section of the city. The parade will start at the corner of Galena avenue and Second street and will march to the car barns, where cars will be boarded for the ball park.

At 1:15 o'clock at the park, Mayor W. B. Brinton, E. J. Countryman, O. H. Martin and George Boynton will make short dedicatory addresses and at 1:30 o'clock sharp the first game of the afternoon, that between the I. N. U. and the Brunswicks, will be called. Mayor Brinton will pitch the first ball, and those who have seen His Honor practicing say that he will put something onto the ball when he steps into the box.

At 3:30 o'clock the second game of the double-header will be played by the Buster Browns and the Stars and during the entire afternoon the Marine band will play. It's going to be a big day for baseball in Dixon.

BLIND SOPRANO SINGER DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Oakland, Cal., June 17—Miss Helen Mesow, the blind soprano singer, known as the "Helen Keller of the West," was found dead here in her apartment last night. Physicians say that a spoon found in her bedroom smelled of poison. Miss Meso wwas a linguist, dancer and fancy skater. She and Helen Keller were fast friends.

Mrs. George C. Loveland has gone to Mt. Carroll to visit her sister.

VILLA DENIES SPLIT WITH CARRANZA

ARREST OF CARRANZA OFFICIAL RESULTS FROM MISINTERPRETATION OF ORDERS.

GUNBOAT TAMPICO IS WORSTED IN CONFLICT

Mediators at Falls Awaiting Further Word From Washington—Huerta Delegates to Prevent Friction.

(Associated Press.)

El Paso, June 17—General Villa, through his agents here, has issued a denial of the alleged split between himself and Carranza. He said that the arrest of the Carranza officials at Jaurez last night was the result of a misinterpretation of orders on the part of General Ornelas, in charge of the Jaurez garrison. It was learned, however, that twenty or thirty employes of the customs house, telegraph station, treasury department and the information bureau had sent a special train early today to Chihuahua City to be transported to Torreon, where Villa remained.

The whereabouts of Perez Abreu, Carranza's publicity agent, who disappeared when his office was taken by Villa's soldiers, is causing much speculation. He was arrested while in the act of transcribing bulletins regarding Zacatecas' attack in which the Natera forces were defeated.

It is reported that the Villa elements have resented the appointment of Natera as the new chief of the Central Zone.

Villa supporters at El Paso have declared General Angeles secretary of war in Carranza's cabinet and, who has been commanding Villa's artillery since the battle of Torreon has been selected by Villa for provisional president in place of Carranza. Angeles has departed for the front above Zacatecas.

Mexican newspaper reports at Torreon begun the discussion of the Villa-Carranza estrangement.

HUERTA'S GUNBOAT SINKS CONSTITUTIONALIST BOAT

(The Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., June 17— The long dispatch received from Niagara Falls, officials say, did not change the situation.

MEDIATORS AWAIT WORD FROM WASHINGTON

(Associated Press.)

Niagara Falls, June 17—On word from the government at Washington depends the next mediation move. The American delegates telegraphed a two thousand word report of yesterday's conference at Buffalo with Zubaran and Cabrera, authorized representatives of Carranza. The general feeling here is that the United States possibly may inaugurate a change of policy and this condition has been produced by the uncompromising attitude of Zubaran and Cabrera.

Despatches tell of friction between Carranza and Villa. There are reports of rupture in Sonora between Governor Maytor Ena and Gen. Obregon, and the news report Constitutionalist reverses on both land and sea. Huerta delegates say they will do all in their power to prevent a break in the negotiations.

SITUATION NOT CHANGED

(Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., June 17— The Huerta gunboat Guerrero defeated and probably sunk the Constitutionalist gunboat Tampico near Mazatlan, according to a report from Admiral Howard. The captain and chief engineer of the Tampico committed suicide.

ANOTHER ENGAGEMENT

(By The Associated Press)

Wshington, D. C., June 17—An engagement took place last night at Topolobampo and was witnessed by the U. S. ships New Orleans and Perry. Some of the crew was rescued by the New Orleans and by the Guerrero. Surgeons from New Orleans assisted in caring for the injured on both sides.

In The Field of Sports

RECORD SALARY IS OFFERED E. COLLINS.

Eddie Collins, keystone of the Connie Mack infield, has been offered the largest salary ever paid a ball player to play with the Brooklyn Feds, according to his own statement. He admitted that he had no intention of leaving the Athletics until the expiration of his contract next fall.

Collins was taken into town on Monday night, by Walter Ward, son of President R. B. Ward, of the Brookfeds, and spent several hours in Ward's company. He would not name the exact figures, but intimated that they reached a few thousand above the $25,000 a year offered Walter Johnson.

Baltimore teams led both the Federal and the International base ball leagues. Some sense to being a big Baltimore Fan, why not move if you live in a city with a low standing, is being asked by Bugs in the "big smoke" cities.

Someone rises to suggest that the appropriateness of holding the Johnson-Moran fight in the Alps, as nothing is on the level in Switzerland.

It takes Umpire Chill to get the American League fans into a feverish mood.

American polo enthusiasts are pining their faith to the old adage about the prevalence of slips between the cup and the lip.

Callahan has stationed Jimmy Breton, late of the University of Illinois, at third occasionally and finds that the collegian handles himself mighty well.

Kid Gleason, coach of the White Sox, is serving a ten days suspension, visited upon him by President Johnson, for misbehavior on the field during an argument with Umpire Billy Evans.

Ad Wolgast, sometimes known as the Michigan bearcat, believes he is the puglistic man of destiny. He says he feels in his bones that he he is to be the one man in the boxing game who will be able to go what no other man was ever able to do—come bac kand win a title after losing it to another. Recent events have greatly encouraged the husky Michigan fighter, who on Monday night last, left for Los Angeles there to make his first attempt in a battle with Joe Rivers. This is to be Tom McCarey's July 4th card.

Zybysco, the world's greatest but for one man, whom it is not necessary to name, declares that he is not yet out of the fighting and will make further efforts to capture the world's championship. When interviewed at Clinton on Tuesday, the big Pole could hardly express himself for anger, when asked if he still beleived that he oculd throw Gotch. "I will get him this winter, you bet, Mister," declared the giant, feverishly gesticulating and rolling his eyes. His dislike of Frank Gotch, borders on hatred. Gotch refuses to meet the foreigner, until he has tried conclusions with Yussuf Mahmout. Z ybysco is as beefy as ever, and weighs 230 pounds.

The base ball game yesterday in St. Louis, between the Feds of that city and the Brookfeds, was one of the oddest and most sensational games ever staged in either of the big leagues. The Brooklyn team led with a score of five to three at the last of the ninth innings, at which time the St. Louis bunch came back with two runs and tied things up. Matters ran along in this manner until the first part of the twelfth, when Brooklyn poled in seven runs, making their score 12. The stuff then would have ordinarily been off for the St. Louis bunch, but they were there with the hickory comeback and batted in fifteen runs, with one out. Marsans recently acquired by the Sloufeds, poled five hits and more than justified his purchase. Ward Miller, of this city, played the old, consistent game and spurned the pill for three nice bingles. The game lasted three hours.

Jack Miller, the sterling first sacekr of the St. Louis Cardinals, has just singned a three years contract at a fatter salary. The ex-Piball for Miller Huggins.

Eddie Cicotte underwent a minor operation yesterday morning, quite successfully.

Charley Ebbets, the Brooklyn magnate, has affiliated himself with a fire works manufacturing company. Judging fro the exhibition Mr. Ebberts gave after the Dodgers defeat on Saturday, he will be a success.

ALL DREAD HARMLESS MOUSE

Instinctive Fear of Women Is Well Known, but Is Not at All Easy to Explain.

Once more there is excuse for asking how much of sincerity there is in the fear of mice to which so many women give such vehement expression. A night telephone operator over in Jersey saw one of the little creatures steal out on the floor of the room in which she was keeping her lonely vigil, and, though his attaek was not on her, but on the crumbs of her luncheon, she promptly fainted. On recovery she rushed into the closet, where she was imprisoned till morning by the spring catch on the hastily slammed door.

Yet this young woman, like all others, knows that mice are perfectly harmless; that they never did hurt anybody and never will.

The wicked suggestion has been made that feminine outcries on the appearance of mice are a mere fashion or habit, inveterate now, but originating in nothing better than a desire to show an interesting sensitiveness and timidity and to give rescuing man a chance to show his superiority. There must be something more to it than that, however, for not a few women, even when quite alone, as this one was, manifest almost convincing indications of this, perhaps not the less real because so unnecessary.

Apparently the fear is instinctive, but nothing in ancestral history explains the instinct, since in the line of mothers running back through the troglodytes to merely anthropoid forbears, never a one was devoured by a mouse and not more than half a dozen in all can have been bitten by one. And instincts are not so easily made.

HANNES KOLEHMAINEN

Red McGhee says:

The docs say Kohlemainen's heart might stop if he should try to start another marathon. Some prospect, that, for any guy to have hung out before his eye to feast its gaze upon. But Hannes hears the docs an' smiles. Preparin' for his next fast mile he's home among the Finns. He's gonna summer over there. His trainin' camp's an easy chair. He sits an' rests his shins.

If Hannes don't throw any fits about his heart agoin' on the fritz or any future race, what right has poor ol' me an' you to worry, weep or fret or stew? We'd best jus' close our face. If Hannes never ran again he'd still rank high with runnin' men — his rep's already made. The Finn can glory in his past — there won't be any questions ast nor any spleen displayed.

Last month the New York Mail's big race saw Hannes finish in first place. A thousand men he beat. One hour nine minutes — Thirteen miles! An' runnin' on those hard brick tiles right out there in the street! He pulled the same stunt last year, too. For distance runs I guess he'll do, without a shade o' doubt. One thing about this Finn gets me. He runs for Irish A. A. C.—That don't just figure out.

CHICAGOANS TAKE AIR TRIP

Ride Over Parks and Lake Michigan in New Dirigible Balloon.

Chicago, June 17.—Chicago's first popular excursion was conducted yesterday by A. R. Knabenshue, builder and pilot, who took up a party of eight for 24 wonderful minutes in his dirigible balloon. Mr. Knabenshue, personally conducted tour started from the hangar late in the afternoon. Followed by the eyes of thousands "Captain" Knabenshue sent his craft northeast over Washington park just north of Fifty-first street. Then he headed east over the lake to within a short distance of the Hyde Park crib. Returning he passed over Jackson park.

BRITISH CAPTURE POLO TROPHY

English Four Defeats Americans Four to Two and Three-Fourths.

40,000 PERSONS SEE GAME

Wonderful and Reckless Riding Thrills Thousands; Fouls Cost Yankees Victory—Lord Wimborne Leads Parade of Victors.

Westbury, N. Y., June 17.—The international polo championship goes to England by virtue of its second victory over the Americans by a score of 4 to 2¾. America was penalized a half goal in the last period for fouling, making the score 2¾ to England's 4 The game was witnessed by 40,000 persons.

The game was the most bitterly contested and the most brilliantly fought game in polo history. It also abounded with sensational plays from start to finish, and the wonderful, reckless riding of the men on both teams sent the crowd crazy with delight over the marvelous horsemanship.

The Americans lost their game not because they were ouplayed, but because in their desperate effort to win they committeed many fouls by riding in front of the English, who had the right of way. Each foul play cost them half a goal and the deductions thus caused them the loss of the game.

Americans Show Better Work.

The Americans throughout the game showed a team work that was far superior to that of the English. The invaders were almost swept off their feet by the fierce attacks of the Americans, who really did not get under way until the second half of the game.

Immediately after the game Lord Wimborne, backer of the English team, made his way toward the Meadowbrook clubhouse. This was a signal for an ovation for the British leader, and the crowd responded with a will. More than five hundred Englishmen in the west stand jumped on the field and formed a procession with Wimborne leading it, the paraders waving English flags and whooping things up for England in general and Lord Wimborne and his polo team in particular.

The official lineup follows:

HENRY SPENCER MUST HANG

Supreme Court of Illinois Fixes Date of Execution at July 31.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—Henry Spencer, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Alice Allison Rexroat, must die. The Illinois supreme court handed down an opinion affirming the sentence of death pronounced in the DuPage circuit court, fixing the date for the hanging of Spencer on July 31, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. at the Wheaton jail.

Mrs. Rexroat, a dancing teacher in Chicago, from whom Spencer had taken lessons in tango steps, was lured by him to a lonely road near Wayne, DuPage county, and there killed by a blow of a hammer.

DEWEY IS MUCH BETTER

Son of Manila Hero Returns From Bedside to Chicago.

Washington, June 17. — Admiral Dewey, whose brilliant victory at Manila changed the map of the world and the destinies of the United States, is recovering from a sharp attack of illness, superinduced by a heavy cold he contracted on Memorial day. For a few days Mrs. Dewey was greatly alarmed and sent for his son, George, who lives in Chicago. Finding there was no danger and with the approval of the physicians, the younger Mr. Dewey left for home.

HOUSE BLOCKS SHIP SALE

Senate Plan to Dispose of Naval Equipment Meets Obstacle.

Washington, June 17.—Plans of the navy department to sell the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to some European power and build a modern dreadnaught with the money were blocked last night in the house. Such formidable opposition to the proposal developed that Chairman Padgett of the naval committee conferred with department officials and announced that it would not be pressed.

SPLENDORS OF THE UNIVERSE TO BE SHOWN AT SAN FRANCISCO IN 1915

A SCENE of splendor and glory unrivaled in the history of world's expositions is assured the visitor to the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco in 1915. Thousands of workmen are now rushing to completion the vast exhibit palaces that face north on the shores of San Francisco harbor just inside the Golden Gate, and a conclave of nations unsurpassed by history is assured at this stupendous celebration at which the United States, joined by the nations of the world, will celebrate the opening of the Panama canal.

Thirty-four great countries have accepted the invitation to take part in the Exposition. This is four times as many nations as had agreed to participate at any other exposition at a similar time before its opening.

The fact that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be ready in every detail long before the opening day on Feb. 20, 1915, is only what the world expected of the men who have this International Exposition in charge.

More than 60,000 of the world's leading exhibitors will have their exhibits installed in the vast exhibit halls when the Exposition opens to the world. This is an unparalleled record in the history of universal expositions.

Boehme-Wirth.

A wedding, charming in its simplicity and impressive throughout, occurred this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the German Parsonage, Rev. Theodore Drexel uniting the lives of two popular young Dixon people, Miss Minnie Boehme and Mr. Samuel Wirth.

The couple were attended by Miss Louise Fuellsack and Mr. Otto Boehme, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families. The bride was gowned in a beautiful white silk dress, with draperies of shadow lace and carried white roses. Her attendant wore a hand some gown of lemon-colored silk, with over drape of shadow lace.

Following the ceremony, a reception and wedding supper was tendered the newly weds at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boehme, of this city. The home was beautifully decorated in pink and white carnations, and a center piece of white carnations artistically arranged, adorned the dining table. An elaborate supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirth will go to Chicago for a short visit, after which they will be at home in this city. Mrs. Wirth's traveling gown was of blue, with hat of blue, prettily trimmed in flowers.

The young people are well known in this city, Mrs. Wirth being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boehme. Mr. Wirth is a young man of sterling character and is machinist at the Borden factory. They have many friends to extend to them congratulations.

Surprised Mrs. Grant.

Mrs. John Kennedy was hostess at a very pleasant party Monday evening at her home, 416 Second street, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. John Grant.

Late in the afternoon the guests to the number of 30 gathered at the Kennedy home and then word was sent to Mrs. Grant to call there. The table was prettily decorated with roses. At the close of the dinner, the hostess, in behalf of the guests, presented Mrs. Grant with a birthday book as a remembrance of the occasion. Mrs. Grant responded with words of appreciation for the kindness of all.

The remainder of the evening was spent with cards and all departed at a late hour, wishing Mrs. Grant many happy returns of the day and also voting Mrs. Kennedy a royal hostess.

Dance This Evening.

The Middlers anticipate a very large attendance at their weekly party at Rosbrook's hall this evening. The cooler weather, together with electric fans that have been installed in the hall, will make the dancing more enjoyable and a large number of out-of-town guests are expected to be present. Music will be furnished for the dancing by the Marquette orchestra.

At Graybill Lodge.

Mesdames Squires, Owens, Warner and C. J. Rosbrook, took dinner at the Graybill lodge, at Lowell Park today.

Visiting Here.

Miss Marie Rieger of Sterling is visiting here at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Alderfer.

Annual Picnic

The Palmyra Mutual Aid Society held the annual picnic at Lowell Park today. All the members and their families were present and a very enjoyable day resulted from the clubs efforts.

Returns Home.

Mrs. Wilson Byerhoff, who has been visiting here with her parents and friends will return this evening to her home in Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Tully-Cooper.

Another pretty wedding ceremony occurring Tuesday morning at St. Flannen Roman Catholic church in Harmon, uniting two prominent Harmon young people, Miss Alice Tully becoming the bride of Mrs. Ross Cooper. The marriage service was impressively read at 10 o'clock by Rev. Father McKeuon, a large number of the relatives and friends witnessing the ceremony.

The wedding music began at 10 o'clock and as the first chords of Lohrengrins wedding march were heard, the bride and groom, with their attendants, Miss Mary Irvin, of Wheaton, Ill., the bride's cousin, and Mr. George Cooper, of Dixon, the groom's brother, entered the church and advanced to the altar, where the priest awaited them. The bride's gown was of white crepe meteor, lace trimmed and she wore a full length viel and carried a prayer book. Her attendant wore a hand some gown of lemon-colored crepe meteor, with an over drape of shadow lace.

Following the ceremony, a reception and wedding dinner was tendered the newly weds at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tully, near Harmon, a large number of relatives and friends being guests for the day. An elaborate dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will not take a wedding trip, but will go at once to their home, which is to be on the groom's farm, near Grand Detour.

Both young people are well known and come of prominent families, the groom being son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cooper of Nelson township, while the bride has spent her entire life in Harmon and vicinity. They have many friends to extend congratulations.

HER FRIEND'S GOOD ADVICE

The Results Made This Newburg Lady Glad She Followed Suggestion.

Newburg, Ala.—"For more than a year," writes Myrtle Cothrum, of this place, "I suffered with terrible pains in my back and head. I had a sallow complexion, and my face was covered with pimples. Our family doctor only gave me temporary relief.

A friend of mine advised me to try Cardui, so I began taking it, at once, and with the best results, for I was cured after taking two bottles. My mother and my aunt have also used Cardui and were greatly benefited.

I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women."

Cardui is a purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, tonic remedy for women, and will benefit young and old.

Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui has helped a million women back to health and strength.

Have you tried it? If not, please do. It may be just what you need.

Picnic Dinner.

The Thursday Reading Circle will hold its annual picnic tomorrow at the Ripley Cottage in Assembly Park. All are looking forward to a very enjoyable time as an elaborate dinner has been arranged.

Visiting Relatives Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobias L. Jaeger, of Lancaster, Pa., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Byers and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Jaeger are on their wedding tour having only been married since June 3. They spent several weeks at the home of Mr. Jaeger's parents in Dubuque, Iowa, and are now returning to the East. Mrs. Jaeger is a cousin of Mr. Byers.

Gerdes-Seagren.

A very pretty wedding was held at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Bernhard Gerdes, in Marion township, when their eldest daughter, Miss Lizzie Gerdes was united in holy wed-lock wtih Clarence Seagren of Dixon.

The couple were attended by Mr. Edward Gerdes and Miss Ida Gerdes, brother and sister of the bride, while the youngest sisters, the Misses Catherine and Annie Gerdes, acted as flowers girls. The bride was herself, becomingly gowned in satin messaline, with overlace, carrying a bouquet of bridal roses. During the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Jacob Gerdes, the brides sister-in-law, the couple took their stand under an arch of evergreens and roses and the service was read by Rev. Theodore Drexel, at six p. m. After the service an excellent dinner was enjoyed by all

Among the guests present, were Mr. August Seagren, of Sterling, father of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. C. Schulte, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schafer, Mr. and Mrs. August Schulte, Mrs. Richard Janssen and a host of others.

Mr. and Mrs. Seagren will reside in Dixon, where Mr. Seagren is in business.

To Chicago.

Misses Hattie and Florence Mulkins will spend Thursday in Chicago.

Graduating Exercises.

Dixon friends have received invitations to the graduation exercises of the training school for nurses of St. Lukes hospital in Chicago which will take place on Wednesday evening, June 24th, at eight o'clock, in Grace church, at Fifteenth street and Wabash avenue. Following the exercises there will be a reception in the Training school from nine until eleven o'clock. Miss Erie Hammarstrom of this city will be one of the graduates and Dixon friends are extending her congratulations for her success.

Kendall Club Meets.

The Kendall Club will meet this evening with Caroline Slothower at her home.

Social Postponed.

The Social that was to have been held this evening at the Presbyterian church will be postponed one week and will take place next Thursday.

Class Picnic.

The Sunday School classes of Mr. Aherns and Mrs. Rowe and their families enjoyed a picnic last evening at the J. Wilbur Cortright country home. About two hundred went in autos and one of the most enjoyable times the class ever had occurred. A ball game was one of the features, was a fat and thin mens race caused much merriment.

The class quartette rendered several selections and the best of all was the supper served, which every one greatly enjoyed.

Herd From California.

Mr. Willis Whitmore and daughter Mable, arrived today from Oakland, Calif., to visit with the former's sister, Mrs. A. L. Barlow and family of South Galena avenue.

Birthday Party.

Miss Elizabeth Phillips was hostess to a very pretty lawn party given in honor of her birthday anniversary About thirty young people helped her to celebrate the occasion and make the evening a joyous one.

The lawn was very prettily decorated in Japanese lanterns and flowers and made a pleasant background for the merrymakers. The dinner was served in the dining room which was very beautiful in roses and carnations. The evening passed swiftly with games and music and all left with regret, because the time had passed so soon and leaving behind them many happy wishes for Miss Elizabeth's future. She was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, showing the esteem of her many friends.

SAILED HIS OWN MAN-OF-WAR

Oldtime Sea Fighter Would Have Been Properly Indignant at Being Called a Pirate.

It was the year 1649. Captain Blauveldt, skipper of the ship La Grace, would not have liked to be termed a pirate. He termed himself "commander-in-chief of a private man-of-war." He was popular in New Amsterdam (afterward New York) among his Dutch countrymen, but also in the neighboring English colonies of Boston and Virginia. Captain Blauveldt on the La Grace used to come sailing up the river with the Spanish prizes, which he sold at fair and resonable prices to his "customers" at New Amsterdam and in the English colonies. In 1648 came the peace of Munster between Spain and the Netherlands, which should have put a commander of a private man-of-war out of business. Great, therefore, was the astonishment of all the New Amsterdammers to see, in March, 1649, a year and a half after the treaty of peace, La Grace sailed up the river with the Spanish ship Tabasco, captured as a prize in the Gulf of Mexico. The gallant captain swore he had never heard of any peace with Spain and that when he summoned the Tabasco to surrender the latter had answered by firing on him. Besides, La Grace had been built in France and France and Spain were yet at war. Notwithstanding these refutations, the capture was considered illegal and the Spanish ship was returned to its owner. The captain and his partners in New Amsterdam, very respectable citizens, did not appreciate these legal proceedings. As for the captain he left the colony for "an unknown destination." And he was a handsome gentleman, "fair of complexion with gentle eyes and of high stature."

PLAY NECESSARY FOR CHILD

Most Important for His Proper Development, and There Should Be Safe Places Provided.

"And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." Thus Zechariah in 520 B. C. But there were fewer motor cars in Zechariah's day than there are in ours. The children now need, for their play, some place safer than the street, declares the Craftsman.

More important than the playground, however, is the play. It is well that children should play in a safe place, but it is absolutely necessary that they should play somewhere if they are to grow up at all. For there is no doubt now, I think, in the minds of educators that play builds the child. It is the method that nature has provided for his development. Play indeed is the positive side of the whole phenomenon of infancy. The reason the higher animals, and man above all, are born so helpless and unformed is that they may be finished by this special method. It is for the sake of play that infancy exists, that there is such a thing as a child at all. The child who is deprived of his chance to play is deprived of his opportunity to grow up.

Nonsensical Question.

Jakey, the lazy and overgrown son of a resident of the Bronx, was recently haled before the magistrate in the Morrisania police court by his father, who charged him with being incorrigible, a deadly enemy of work in all its branches, staying out late at nights, smoking cigarettes and a few other habits unbecoming a boy on the threshold of manhood. The parent was mad clear through, and told the court in no soft language just what he thought his boy was coming to.

"Does he strike you?" asked the judge of the young man's father when the latter had cooled off somewhat.

"Strike?" came back the father. "Why, Mr. Judge, your honor, how can dot boy strike ven he doesn't even volk?"—New York Tribune.

No Occasion to Worry.

Following a brief acquaintance and a hurried courtship, Sam Hawkins and Eliza Cook, colored, on the eve of the wedding were indulging in those solemn self-confessions which such an occasion invites. "One thing Ah most fohgot to tell yuh, honey," cooed Eliza. "I'se a somnambulist." Somewhere she had run across the word, liked it, carefully remembered it, and at last had an opportunity to bring it into use. "Don't wohy 'bout that," replied Sam, with easy, chivalrous air, "ma fatheh wuz Mefodis', ma muttheh wuz Biptis', an' Ah'm—well fur's Ah'm conc'ned Ah'd jes' soon go to youah chu'ch as any otheh."

Deceived.

Little Willie was left alone with sister's beau.

"Mr. Chumpley," he presently said, "what is a popinjay?"

"Wh-why, a popinjay is a-a vain bird."

"Are you a bird, Mr. Chumpley?"

"Certainly not."

"That's funny. Ma said you was a popinjay, and pa said there was no doubt about your bein' a jay, an' sister said there was small hopes of your poppin', an' now you say you ain't a bird at all. That's funny."

CITY IS BENEFITED BY LEAGUE BOOSTERS

BALL GAMES PROVIDE AMUSEMENT AND RELATION FOR DIXON PEOPLE.

GATHERING PLACE FOR YOUTH

A Lover of the Game is Usually Good Citizen—Everybody Boost for New League.

City League boosters have been active in furthering the interests of the organization, consequently there has risen a fair question: What are the benefits of the league to Dixon? This question is often encountered by that live bunch of City league advocates (and incidentally Dixon pushers) and is easily answered.

The Dixon Baseball and Amusement association has been formed for the purpose of no personal gain, having as its officers prominent business men of established reputation. They, in establishing this organization took action for several reasons. The league provides cheap amusement and relaxation for Dixon people, puts clean athletic contests within the reach of all and tends to right living and thinking. Games played in the league are of more than ordinary interest because of the participants being Dixon lads. This was the motive for founding the league for under the old system of out of town games much Dixon money went to other cities. With this system the sums earned by the league are fairly distributed among local people. The winning team of each league game receives 50 per cent of the receipts, the losers 40 and the remainder goes for umpiring and the upkeep of the grounds.

The park is a great factor in providing the youth of Dixon with a place for needed exercise. Practically every player in the league is employed indoors and all welcome the exercise to be had at the park each evening. The park is in use every night of the week .Through proper relaxation there is the return to the employer of increased efficiency and improved health of the employe.

Then there is not the personal antagonism that marks uncontrolled baseball and has been the cause of many brawls locally. Under the supervision of city league officials every player receives a fair try-out and is dealt with according to elimination. The Dixon league games are attracting much interest in the neighboring cities and Dixon is put in the way of valuable free advertising. Dixon has undertaken and successfully carried out an enterprise that is attempted only in the larger cities and Dixon is branded as a live and aggressive town by larged cities.

This is what the officials of the City league have, with the help of local business men, done for this city. Our merchants are broad minded and have materially aided in the establishment of the Dixon Baseball and Amusement association and their efforts are greatly appreciated by the general public, who realize just what the new organization means to this city.

CANADIAN TRADE.

The lowering of rates on Canadian importations was supposed to result in a great reciprocal trade between the two countries. Figures now available for the first time show that there has been an advance, in importations from Canada but a big falling off has occurred in American exportations to Canada, says the Clinton Herald.

"A year ago," says a report of the department of commerce, made public today, "we were selling to Canada over four times as much as we bought from her, while we are now selling a little more than twice as much as we buy in our trade with the Dominion."

We import nine times as many cattle from Canada as a year ago, twice as many horses, fifteen times as much wool, twice as much flax seed, twice as much print paper and three times as many sheepskins.

On the other hand we export only half as much farm machinery, half as much corn, half as many automobiles, with smaller losses in other lines of manufacture.

Under President Taft's much abused Canadian reciprocity plan, the United States would at least have received concessions which would have helped the sale of manufactured products to Canada, and thus would have made a better home market for Iowa products, but under the democratic plan of giving everything and getting nothing, Canada reaps the entire benefit.

IN THE WRONG PARTY.

New York World—Amos Pinchot cannot read George W. Perkins out of the progressive party without reading Theodore Roosevelt out too.

Mr. Roosevelt is just as ardent a believer in "the protection of private monopoly" as Mr. Perkins. Mr. Roosevelt is just as ardent an advocate of the theory that "the trusts are useful and sacred institutions," and that "those who attack them are bent on the destruction of all healthy industry on a large scale."

All that Mr. Pinchot need to do to convince himself is to read Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress and his public speeches since he left the White House. Perkinsism is Rooseveltism, and Rooseveltism is Perkinsism. The cornerstone of the progressive structure is erected upon the principle of regulated monopoly.

The trouble with Mr. Pinchot is that he is in the wrong party and is following the wrong leader. He belongs with Woodrow Wilson and the progressive democrats, not with Theodore Roosevelt and the regulated monopolists. He can never make the republican party over to conform with his ideas of right and justice but he could become a Woodrow Wilson democrat without sacrificing any of his essential beliefs.

It ought to be plain to Mr. Pinchot by this time that the progressive party has no definite political purpose except the exploitation of personal ambition, and that the one hope of all true progressives is the Wilson democracy. Why waste time on George W. Perkins when he could be aiding Woodrow Wilson in a real fight for social and economic justice?

TRIM THE TREES.

The heavy foliage on the trees in many places in Dixon seriously interferes with the street lighting, for with the lights on the corners instead of the intersection, the trees are able to completely shut off the light in some directions.

The city believes that the task of trimming all the trees properly is too big a one to be undertaken, but the Telegraph suggests that if the city cannot do it, the citizens might be able to give considerable assistance by trimming the trees that are on or in front of their own property. It would greatly improve the appearance of the streets as well as increase the efficiency of the street lighting system.

ARRESTING A KING.

Mr. Pelourgeat, a policeman in Bayonne, France, is celebrated as the "man who arrested the king," remarks an exchange. He pinched King Alfonso of Spain for speeding through the streets of Bayonne, and according to the newspaper account, "turned crimson with mortification" when he learned the king's identity. But the king forgave him, shook hands, and sped away, enjoying the joke hugely.

In early days, of course, a policeman who stopped a king would have been run through with a lance. That he failed to recognize a king would avail him nothing. But the world is growing better. A policeman today gets off with a feeling of mortification when he attempts to enforce the law against kings and wine merchants alike.

Some time, who knows, kings may obey the law.

The Mayor proposes to have the firemen wash the paved streets of Dixon with their hose instead of buying a flusher. With all our fine paved streets and the many more in prospect, it will soon be necessary to stop having fires. The firemen will be up nights, anyway, to keep the streets clean.

Judge Scott has withdrawn from the race for county judge and at present there is only one avowed candidate for the office on the republican ticket, Attorney John B. Crabtree. No better candidate could be found within the confines of the county than Mr. Crabtree.

Tomorrow is "Lincoln Park Day" and the afternoon is dedicated to the celebration of the christening of the park. The Telegraph force will join in the festivities and will send the paper to press at one o'clock.

The only drawback, from a newspaper standpoint, about the settling of the Mexican mixup is that we have to get back to real work and the digging up of news.

The Brides

BY WALT MASON

I see the blushing brides go by, all sweet and blooming, to the church, and nothing fairer greets the eye, however far a man may search. As nearer to the church they draw, the bliss they feel is all unfeigned, for they obey a holy law, and lead the life that God ordained. The old maids stand around outside, and think upon the yesteryear; each had a chance to be a bride, and passed it up for some career. Each was ambitious to be known as lawyer, doctor or the like, and dismally each stands alone, and sees the brides go up the pike. From 'neath the churches' spires and domes the brides go forth to normal lives, to make and manage happy homes and join the ranks of gracious wives. The old maids leave the wedding scene, with hearts that feel as though they'd burst; they fill their stoves with gasoline and cook their meals of wienerwurst. They chose the dross and left the gold, their lives are but a dreary blank; they have no men around to scold, no kids to cuddle or to spank. Their eyes are full of tears unshed, their hearts of grief that ever gnaw; their hair is gray, their noses red, their temper like a cross cut saw. Imagine, then, how tough they feel, as by the churchyard gate they stray, and hear the wedding music peel, and see the brides in brave array!

If present plans materialize another valuable course will be added to the curriculum of the Freeport high school. For some time there have been rumors that a primary would be installed in the school and a course in printing taught. The subject has been talked up lately by alumni representing the majority of the classes, and it is the concensus of opinion that the course should be established.

INDOLENCE A NATIONAL TRAIT

What Are Known as "Leaners" Decidedly in the Majority Among the Natives of Mexico.

"Mexican indolence has always had something to do with making Mexican national history," said a traveler. "Mexico has a class of natives called 'leaners' from their habit of leaning against the side of a building to roll a cigarette. Once in this position the leaner adheres to it for hours.

"Tradition declares that a Mexican leaner once sued an American railroad builder for pulling down a building against which the plaintiff had been leaning. Damages were awarded for severe shock and inconvenience, and the court took occasion to recommend a law requiring one hour's notice under similar circumstances.

"Mexican military forces are to some extent recruited from leaners. Mexican history has record of an insurgent force which was being pushed forward victoriously when it came to a stream which had swollen over night. The general was a leaner. He bivouacked to wait till the stream should subside, but it did not subside and he withdrew. He could easily have bridged a narrow cascade less than a mile from his camp, but that would have required a fresh initiative, which has no place in the practical philosophy of a leaner.

"But he succeeded, anyhow, because his adversary was also a leaner. When the river fell the insurgent force came back, crossed without opposition, and casually took possession of the contested territory."

POSTPONED TRIP TO EUROPE

Comparison of the Ocean With Ship on Which He Was to Sail Decided This Man.

He decided to take a late winter journey to Europe and bask in the sunshine of southern Italy. He engaged a stateroom and passage on a steamer bound for Naples. Two days before sailing time he arrived in New York with all the baggage necessary for a successful trip abroad. Three or four days after that he was back in his home town, pursuing his usual business affairs, and "saying nothing." A friend, unable to bear the silence, asked him one day why he had not gone to Europe.

"Well," said the man, "when I got to New York I looked at the boat that was to take me across the pond, and then I looked at the ocean and then I figured how many times bigger the ocean was than that boat. Then I figured that even if that boat was stood on end, none of it would be left on top of the water in case it should sink.

"At that time, too, waves as big as mountains were running and vessels were in trouble everywhere. The water was sickly green. I became dizzy just looking at it, and then I decided that if the Atlantic could make me seasick just to look at it while I was standing on shore it would certainly kill me if I mixed up with it—so I came home."

CHURCH BUILT FROM A TREE

Single Giant Redwood of California Furnished Enough Material for the Whole Structure.

In Santa Rosa, Cal., is a Baptist church building, the product of a single giant redwood tree which grew in the neighborhood of Guerneville, a few miles distant from where it now stands. Not only is the main structure built from the one tree, but the interior finishings—except the floor, which is of pine—are of the same wood, beams, pulpit and seatings, not a particle of plaster or other similar material being used in this remarkable building.

The tree when sawed yielded 78,000 feet of lumber, and after the building was finished in every particular, enough material was left to manufacture several thousand shingles, besides a quantity of scantlings, joists and other dimension stuff. So carefully were the details planned and so skilfully was the framework put together, that the builders of this one-tree church declared it might be as enduring as the old Saxon churches of England built centuries ago out of native timber and still in use. It is gothic in style, finished with massive buttresses outside and heavy beams inside. A tower 70 feet high was built on the southwest corner, but it came down at the time of the great earthquake in 1906.

THE perplexing question of what to give your dear friend who is to be married soon, we would like to answer for you We have many beautiful things in our store to show you.

GEN. VILLA BREAKS WITH REBEL CHIEF; JAILS OFFICIALS

Takes Possession of Carranza Offices at Juarez, Chihuahua and Torreon.

CRISIS IS NOW AT HAND

U. S. Envoys Meet Carranza's Agents —Peace Plan Is Spurned—Believed That Mediation Will Fail— Last Meeting to Be Held on Friday.

El Paso, Tex., June 17.—General Villa has tendered his resignation to General Carranza.

To Villa's message the constitutionalist commander-in-chief replied asking who would succeed him.

Following this, Villa's various military chiefs held a conference and they sent a "round robin" to Carranza declaring they would accept none other than Villa as a leader.

A split with Carranza resulted. General Villa ordered that all commanders of garrisons throughout the territory he controls report at once at Torreon.

This order was accepted ominously by observers. History of the Pascual Orozco rebellion against President Madero was revived. Orozco, like Villa, was a leader of volunteer troops of Chihuahua state, and a popular favorite, but led a revolution against the former president.

Villa Seizes Carranza's Offices.

Carranza's offices at Juarez were seized last night by Villa supporters.

Similar seizures were authentically reported to have taken place at Chihuahua City and at Torreon, where Villa remained all day.

The seizure of the offices in Juarez was taken as conclusive evidence of the long predicted split between Carranza, leader of the constitutionalist revolution, and Villa, his most successful chieftain. This, with the taking over of Carranza offices at Chihuahua City and Torreon, evidently placed the entire northern part of Mexico in the power of Villa's military leaders.

Due to Natera's Attack.

The resignation of Villa was due, it is said, to General Natera's attempt to take Zacatecas without Villa's orders.

It is reported General Carranza has called together chief army officers of various brigades under General Villa to select by vote a second in command to succeed Villa in the same way as the latter was chosen.

Rumors are that Felipe Angeles, now secretary of war for the constitutionalists, will succeed Villa, who may become titular governor of Chihuahua.

In addition to the Carranza information bureau and telegraph office it later was learned that the customs house and the treasury deaprtment at Juarez were seized by Villa's military officers.

Carranza's Aids in Jail.

H. Perez Abreu, Carranza's publicity agent, was reported put into jail, and, it was made known, nearly all the employes of Alberto Pani were arrested.

Pani has been in charge of the treasury department at Juarez and the trusted relay man in the recent exchanges between Carranza, from Saltillo, Rafael and Zubaran at Washington, who in turn transferred the messages to the mediators at Niagara.

Manuel Bonilla, Villa's confidential agent at Juarez, said that he had been ordered to hasten to Torreon to confer with his chief.

Carranza Starts the Feud.

Although Villa's persistent military successes commanded speculation regarding his relation with Carranza the matter did not receive serious consideration until the appointment by Carranza of Gen. Panfilo Natera, as commander of a newly created military zone.

Natera's appointment placed him in charge of a strip of country which Villa had planned to invade, including the uncaptured city of Zacatecas. Natera attacked Zacatecas while Villa remained at Torreon, viewing the experiment from the rear.

Reports from Mexico City, confirmed by private advices from the revolutionists' front, say Natera was defeated decisively in frequent attempts to take the city. Then it was that Carranza requested Villa to rush to Natera's assistance.

Villa Denies Natera Aid.

This was several days ago. Meantime reports continued to arrive of Natera's defeats. Villa remained at Torreon.

The question who should regulate the public service in northern Mexico admittedly was a bone of contention between Carranza and Villa. Under the old federal regime the railroads and telegraph were subject to the central control from the national capital.

All the officials ousted by Villa were appointees of Carranza, whose civil cabinet had taken over the management of the railroads and telegraph and incidentally the information bureau, in accordance with the prescribed custom in Mexico.

The cry everywhere in Juarez is "Viva Pancho," as Villa is known.

On U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, June 17 (by wireless to San Diego, June 17).—Conditions in the besieged city of Mazatlan are rapidly growing worse. Disease is making heavy inroads on the inhabitants, weakened by lack of food. Reports from Acapulco say many federal troops are deserting.

Mexican Mediation Failing.

Washington, June 17.—What may be the final crisis in the Mexican situation is on.

President Wilson refuses to back down upon his proposition that a constitutionalist must be selected as provisional president of Mexico.

The Mexican mediation delegates say they will not have a constitutionalist; that unless a neutral is named they will withdraw.

The A.-B.-C. mediators are tired of the way in which the negotiations are being prolonged. They have intimated that there must be action or they will terminate the peace conference.

Reports made to Washington said that Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, American delegates to the Niagara Falls peace conference, motored to Buffalo during the day and conferred with Luis Cabrera and Rafael Zubaran, Carranza delegates, and that their their mission ended in failure.

The American delegates' object was to get information relating to men who might be satisfactory to the constitutionalists for provisional president of Mexico in succession to Huerta and also to learn the constitutionalists' attitude on the peace plan.

In the mediation parleys the Americans had suggested numerous names, but all had been rejected by the Huerta delegates. Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann therefore sought the name of some one who would be acceptable to the constitutionalists and at the same time to Huerta's commissioners.

The American delegates also sought to gain strong arguments and to have the Carranza delegates in proximity to Niagara Falls should it be determined to admit such delegates into the peace conference. Secretary Bryan desired that this personal meeting should take place that the Carranza representatives might be convinced that the mediators meant what they said in denying admission to rebel delegates unless Carranza should declare an armistice.

The mediators will not recede from this position.

Towne's Huerta Mission Ends.

Announcement that Charles A. Towne, former senator for Minnesota, had failed in his mission to persuade the administration to content itself with a neutral for provisional president of Mexico came in the form of a statement from him saying that his mission of a "restricted" sort was ended and that he had no further connection with Mexican affairs.

The man Mr. Towne intended to propose for the presidency if he had been able to see President Wilson was Gen. Fernando Gonzales, son of General Gonzales, who preceded Don Porfirio Dias as president of Mexico. He purposed to present the view that unless some such neutral could be agreed on the Huertistas would have nothing to gain by mediation and would in fact merely lose through mediation.

Press dispatches from Mexico City saying an extraordinary session of the house probably would be called by Huerta were received with keen interest. The speaker of the house was said to have announced that a "matter of great interest for the Mexican republic, which would require the highest patriotism of the deputies, would be discussed."

Rebels Reject Peace Plan.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 17.—Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, American delegates to the mediation conference, went to Buffalo, and talked for four hours with Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, personal representatives of General Carranza. Their purpose was to find some way to bring the constitutionalists into harmony with the scope of mediation. The mission was a failure.

The next full conference is set for Friday. Until then little will be done because of the absence of Minister Naon of Argentina. Most of the principals incline to the view that Friday's session may be the last.

THE CARPENTER FELLOWSHIP

When a man ain't got a cent, and he's feeling kind of blue
An' the clouds hang dark an' heavy, an' won't let the sunshine through;
It's a great thing, O, my brethren, for a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort of way.

It makes a man feel queerish; it makes the teardrops start,
An' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region of the heart;
You can't look up and meet his eyes; you don't know what to say
When his hand is on your shoulder, in a friendly sort of way.

O, the world's a curious compound with its honey and its gall,
With its care and bitter crosses; but a good worl' after all;
An' a God must have made it—least-ways, that is what I say,
When a hand is on my shoulder, in a friendly sort of way.

"Safety First" is still the cry of the railroads.

John G. Eisenberg and son Roland, of Ashton, motored to Dixon yesterday.

FAMILY THEATRE.

The Family theatre will show "The Perils of Pauline" this evening. This is the fifth series, in two reels and will be enjoyed by the followers of the intensely interesting story. In connection with the Pauline picture a beautiful two-reel subject will be shown, called "The Crucible of Fate."

HOW YALE PREX PROPOSED.

The way President Arthur Twining Hadley, according to Yale legend, asked his prospective father-in-law for permission to marry his daughter was characteristic. At the time this gentleman, Luzon B. Morris, occupied an anomalous political position. He had recently been elected governor of Connecticut, but his claim was disputed and the entire state was in a political turmoil.

"Mr. Morris," was the way Mr. Hadley approached the subject of his call, "I hope that I—at least—may be permitted—to call you—governor."—The World's Work.

[Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate]

THE OTHER WOMAN'S INFLUENCE

I have seen a love demanding
Time and hope and tears,
Chaining all the past, exacting
Bonds from future years;
Mind and heart and joy and sorrow,
Claiming as its fee:
That was Love of Self, and never,
Never love of me.

"To love, and not be loved is time lost," says the poet; to which another adds naively: "'Tis better to have loved and lost, than never to have loved at all." The maiden who loses a fickle lover declares there were never such woes as hers. The wife who has bartered her future happiness for a name and a ring at the alter, with the expectation that it would bring her lifelong devotion and happiness, and has seen her air castle tumble, fickle love take wing, knows that there is no grief more pitiful to endure than hers. The maiden can look elsewhere with expectation of meeting a heart mate. The wife has burned all her bridges of romance behind her. She has been a faithful, loving, conscientious helpmeet, economical to a fault, turning and mending her clothes until there was scarcely a thread left of them, always meeting her husband with a cheerful smile and a kiss, a slave over her household duties from morning till night, happy in the thought that all her sacrifices are for his dear sake, and yet to note a growing coldness on his part is a thorn in her peace of mind, which grows in strength and sharpness until it pierces her heart to the core. She ruminates carefully over the many possibilities that cool a husband's love and cause him to become dissatisfied—a nagging wife—a spendthrift—a married flirt.

She conjures up everything, anything save the true reason which induces him to find fault with her over mere trifles; why he, who used to be so generous in their early married life, cuts down their allowance for household expenses, to the least possible penny; seldom speaks to her save with sarcasm; refuses to take her out for an evening's pleasure, allows the taxes on their home to accumulate, coolly informing her he does not intend to pay and she might as well move, sell everything and go back to her folks.

And he passes more weeks away from home than in it, refusing her all information as to where he was or why he remained away. Even the woman most blinded by wifely love and devotion realizes that there is something wrong—somewhere.

The husband who is brutally frank, throws off all pretense at this stage of the game and openly confesses that he is a backslider from love, faith and duty; that it is better for them to go their separate ways. He points out to her that it is useless for her longer to cling to a heart upon whose hearth the warm glow of affection has died out.

Although he does not admit it in so many words, yet a flash of the truth comes to her.

His fickle heart has strayed from its allegiance to her. Even then she makes excuses for him to herself. He has been lured away from her against his will. All wives should know that they have a strong hold upon a husband's honor which she of his idle fancy has not.

Even though a man tears his wife rudely from his heart because of some other attractive influence which holds him for the time being, yet he who is false to one woman can never be entirely true to another.

She in turn, loses her hold for a fresher fancy. There comes an hour in all such men's lives when they would cast the tinsel from them for the heart of pure gold that they flung aside. It's only a question of time until he repents, seeing his folly, and returns to the heart and home of the one love which proved strongest, truest and best.

IS EACH WOMAN A MATE FOR SOME MAN?

Till love appear, we live in anxious doubt;
But smoke will vanish when that flame breaks out.
This is the fire that would consume our dross,
Refine and make us richer by the loss.

Is there a human being so skeptical as to doubt that each woman born into this glad old world was not intended as the true mate of some particular man? If this were not an unwritten law why would the learned student pass by the beauties who smile upon him and select for a bride the poorly-paid, yet jovial, little waitress at his boarding house? The man of wealth eludes the fashionable, fortune-hunting mammas and their aristocratic daughters, wedding the demure young typewriter in his office.

Yes, there is nothing that will bring comfort like HEALO if you have aching, tired feet.

The young yachtsman, who might have had his pick of any of the dashing maidens at the seashore, finds his ideal in the farmer's daughter who is no longer in the first blush of youth and who could not be induced to wed the best man in the world if he took her away from the farm. Yet the world wonders why one particular man who settled on a farm knows more of a ship's course than why pumpkins should grow on a small vine and acorns grow on strong limbs of a sturdy oak.

The law of opposites also holds good in the case of the artist who passes by all the divine-faced maidens who have made name and fame for him to wed the homeliest girl he knows.

The spendthrift is attracted to the woman who hates to part with a dollar. But when she must do so she makes it cover a hundred necessities more or less. The famous man whom all adore falls in love with and takes to wife the dear little woman who has scarcely a second thought in her brain, who actually goes to sleep when he tries to read her his manuscripts of wit, humor and pathos.

It cannot be doubted that love will choose wisely and well in seeking its own true mate if unrestrained.

It is rank folly for any woman to try to make herself appear different from what she really is in order to gain the admiration of any one man. Were she a flawless beauty, she might not be the style of woman that appeals to him. It is intended that she shall be the ideal of some other man. It may truly be said that love is blind, and that every man thinks his own dearie the most beautiful in the world, as in the case of a young man traveling abroad, who wrote home to his folks that he was bringing home a bride. He also wrote, "She's so beautiful I cannot find words to describe her to you." They found her to be a good-natured, over-plump young woman, red as to hair and cheek, eyes of no particular shade, teeth, instead of being white pearls, much in need of a dentist's attention. A woman may be ever so plain, with defects in face or form, yet there's always one man somewhere in the world who would not notice them, he would be so enchanted with her personality. No woman should cast hope from her, believing she was intended to be mateless.

THE BUSINESS GIRL'S HOPES.

Hope makes one confident and gay;
Clouds at her bidding disappear
Points she to aught, the bliss draws near
And fancy smooths the way.

It is not every young woman who considers that marriage is the jumping-off place of satisfied ambition and hope. There are girls of a thoughtful turn of mind who consider it praiseworthy to fit themselves for some especial duty in this work-a-day world. When a young women knows that she has no one to look to for support, she realizes that she must buckle on the armor and face the situation not only bravely but eagerly. Those who must earn their own living look with wonder upon the weaklings who shrink from honest labor.

They pity the poor creatures who sit with folded hands in a home that is in imminent danger of being disrupted each time rent day rolls around, waiting for some man to come along, fall in love with them and marry them.

They never know what it is to have a penny of their own in their pocket, and must bow submissive to the whims of the head of the house no matter how bitter their hearts may rebel in secret.

The business girl knows no such dependence. She earns her own way in the world and if she finds one roof inhospitable, its inmates uncongenial, she may go elsewhere. She sensibly puts heart and soul into her work, mastering all of the intricacies of her business that her services may be more valuable to her employers as time rolls on.

She acquires the habit of dressing neatly, with judgment, and not conspicuously. She does not twine roses in her hair during business hours causing the wife of the head of the firm to dislike her.

Neither does she wear filmy lace waists and high French heels to business to create gossip among her associates. Her plain shirt-waist is scrupulously neat and plain. Her cloth skirt is not cut too loose at the hip and too tight at the feet. Her shoes are of the common-sense, walking type. She makes a study of her duties, and is faithful in the performance of them. She doesn't gossip about business secrets. She knows the value of a pleasant smile and minding her own business. She asks no favor of those about her and accepts none at their hands. She realizes above all that a good disposition is a business girl's asset. She takes no notice of a slight here or a word of sarcasm there, knowing that into each life some rain must fall. Her tastes are simple and her wants but few. She has the good judgment to lay by each week a little for the inevitable rainy day. She learns to be a student of human nature and chooses her friends wisely. It is never the fop nor the ne'er-do-well who is attracted toward her. It is the man of good judgment who recognizes a true womanly woman when he finds one. The business girl makes the best kind of wife and mother. The popularity of the business girl is apparent when it is conceded that the greatest men in law and letters, men of great wealth, and in the highest walks of life, have chosen them for wives.

EXPLAINED ABSENCE OF NOTE

Seemed to Be Two Good Reasons Why Written Communication Was Not Advisable.

While the colored man at the depot was loading the trunks on the baggage truck a small boy of his own color approached him and said:

"Sam, kin I spoke wid yo' a minit?"

"Wall, dar ain't no of co'se to it. My name, sah, ar' Samuel Brown. If yi' wish to spoke to me yo' must call me Mistah Brown. Now, what yo' got to say?"

"My sistah sent word to you', Mistah Brown."

"Oh, den yo' got a sistah?"

"Yes, sah; and she dun tole me to tell yo' sumthin'."

"She did, eh? Did yo' sistah knew dat I was Mistah Samuel Brown?"

"Yes, sah."

"An' she didn't dun write me a note?"

"No, sah. She dun tole me to say it to yo'."

"Boy, don't yo' fool wid a pusson in my posishun! Why didn't yo'r sistah dun write me a note?"

"'Kase, sah, yo' couldn't read it if she did."

The man reached out and caught the boy by the arm as if to shake him, but directly a smile broke over his face and he released his grip and said:

"Dat's so, boy, an' yo'r sistah can't dun write her own name to save her neck. I'ze got de responsibility of dis railroad on my shoulders an' she's got de responsibility of de dressemakin' bizness on hers, an' we hain't got no time to sagaciate around wid red ink an' blue paper. Yo' jess wait till I percolate dis baggage up to de train an' den you' kin go ahead an' disqualify yo'r inviduous information!"

TAP CABLE; TELL OF RESCUE

Unusual Means of Sending Word of the Rescue of Sailors From Lost Ship.

Word was received by telegraph from St. John, N. B., of the rescue at sea of the captain and 22 members of the crew of the Gloucester fishing vessel Cynthia after they had been forced to abandon their boat in a sinking condition. All are safe on the Western Union cable ship Minia.

News of the saving of the men was forwarded to Gloucester through the unusual means of tapping the ocean cable, sending word to St. John, to the manager of the cable company, and thence by wire to Gloucester.

The Minia was at work repairing the cable at a point south of St. Pierre banks when the crew of the Cynthia was discovered. The rescue was accomplished in latitude 44.55 and longitude 56.8. The men were suffering from exposure, but now are reported as all right.

The Cynthia, Capt. Albert Grimes, was the property of the Sylvanus Smith company of Gloucester, and is the fourth vessel belonging to that concern to be lost within a year. The boat has a gross tonnage of 137.9, and a net tonnage of 96.86. She is valued at $15,000, and was built in Gloucester in 1906.—Gloucester dispatch to Boston Herald.

Owned a Hawaiian Island.

William G. Irwin, the multi-millionaire sugar planter of Honolulu, who died recently at his home in San Francisco, owned the entire Island of Lanai, of the Hawaiian group. He bought it five years ago from Charles Gay for $1. Though a British subject, he was master of an American region of 139 square miles, with a population of 600. The purchase caused threats of international complications, but the United States Supreme court upheld his title.

His career was one of the most picturesque of the capitalists of the Pacific coast. From a clerk in Hawaii he became a magnate with a fortune estimated as running into the tens of millions. His home in Honolulu is one of the most magnificent in the island city.

Irwin was noted for his liberality to charity. He donated 15 acres, valued at $30,000, to Hawaii for park purposes. The sale of his sugar interests to C. Brower & Co., in 1909, is said to have been one of the largest of the kind on record.

Padlock Decanters.

Padlocks on the stoppers of decanters seem to assure the master of the house that, although he is not able to keep constant watch and ward over his sideboard, his choicest vintages will remain intact. The padlocks and the keys that turn them are of a rather prominent size and in silver, etched or engraved to match the band or the entire stopper. And very ornamental they are, too.

Of absolutely novel shape are the newest decanters. Standing a trifle taller than do the old-fashioned sort of rotund form, they are flat and broad at the two sides and a trifle curved, but very narrow at the ends. At the base they are almost as long as are the sides at their widest part, but half way up they narrow almost abruptly into the silver-topped neck.

Locked Himself Out.

A prominent citizen was seen standing at a corner, serene as usual after lunch. But a friend approaching him noticed that the flap on one side coat pocket was pinned down by a regular blanket-size safety pin.

"What's the matter? 'Fraid of pickpockets?" was asked.

"Not much. I got it locked up so I can't get in myself. Kept putting things in it all morning. The pocket has a hole in it large enough for a monkey wrench to drop through."

Moles a Real Pest.

Hitherto moles have been tolerated in our gardens in spite of the ravages that they make on the lawns and in the flower beds, because of the belief that they fed upon the insects that destroy the plants. If Xavier Raspail, the French naturalist, is to be credited, we shall have to give up this idea, for he says that moles eat nothing but earth worms and an occasional grub of a harmless beetle.

Every one knows how valuable the worms are, for the holes they make permit the air to permeate the soil. Therefore the mole may be regarded as an enemy and not a friend of the gardener.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Letter heads are now used by all farmers with their name printed thereon. The Telegraph will be pleased to show you samples and quote prices at any time.

FOR SALE

Corn, Clover and Blue Grass Farms. A safe general farming country. No crop failures ever known. We have gently rolling and nearly level up-land farms; also bottom lands with deep black soil, nearly all dredged and ready for tile drainage. It will pay any prospective land buyer to investigate our proposition.

DOES BACKACH WORRY YOU

Some Dixon People Have Learned How to Get Relief.

How many people suffer from an acking back?
How few know the cause?
If it hurts to stoop or lift—
If you suffer sudden, darting pains—
If you are weak, lame and tired.
Suspect your kidneys.
Watch for nature's signal.
The first signs may be back or dizziness.
Scanty, painful or too frequent urination.
Nervousness or a constant, dead-tired feeling.
Avert the serious kidney diseases.
Treat the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills.
A remedy especially for sick kidneys.
Endorsed in Dixon by your friends and neighbors.

N. W. Beal, 620 College avenue, Dixon, says: "For a long time I had kidney trouble and it showed itself in various ways. I had rheumatic twinges, my back was stiff and lame and after bending over, I could hardly straighten. When I was suffering intensely, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Leake Brothers Drug Store. They gave me wonderful relief in a short time and I still use them, keeping my kidneys in good shape. All I said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago holds good and I am glad to confirm that statement."

Mr. Beal is only one of many Dixon people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Beal had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. all stores. SCHOOL GETS MILLIONS Financier Leaves $40,000,000 to St. Louis University.

Widow and Daughter of James Campbell Will Have Use of Wealth While They Live.

St. Louis, June 17.—The foundation for one of the greatest hospitals and medical schools in the world was laid for St. Louis university in the will of the late James Campbell, railroad financier, which was filed for probate here. The entire estate, valued at approximately $40,000,000, eventually goes to the university for the establishment of a hospital and medical school.

Mrs. Florence A. Campbell, the widow, and Miss Lois Ann Campbell, the only child, are to share equally the income of the estate for life. Twenty-one years after the death of the daughter and mother the entire estate is to go to the university.

The estate is to be held in trust for Mrs. and Miss Campbell by the Mercantile Trust company of St. Louis. At the death of either of the present heirs the entire income is to revert to the surviving one.

The Campbell homes in St. Louis and in Greenwich, Conn., where Mr. Campbell died last Friday, are left to Mrs. Campbell.

The St. Louis university, a Catholic institution, began as an academy for boys in 1818, with less than a score of pupils. In 1824 the Jesuits were persuaded to take it over.

A department of medicine was introduced there in 1835. In 1881 the university ceased to be a boarding school and three years later the school moved to its present site.

In 1901 the Marion-Sims College of Medicine was consolidated with the Beaumont Hospital Medical college to form the medical department of St. Louis university.

CHARGES FRAUD TO BANKERS

Senator Smith Says U. S. Wrongs Nicaragua.

Washington, June 17.—Charges that the United States kept its marines in Nicaragua to influence the recent presidential election and that the state department has been acting in the interest of American bankers, contained in a resolution introduced by Senator Smith of Michigan, were referred to the senate foreign relations committee.

The resolution charges that the state department, through its control of Nicaraguan custom houses, has forced the republic to redeem at par $6,250,000 of bonds issued by Zalaya, later repudiated, and bought in at about twenty-five per cent of their face value by Brown Brothers and Seligman & Co., American bankers interested in Nicaraguan financing.

"The sole beneficiaries of the fraud upon a friendly republic," says the resolution, "were the Brown Brothers, Seligman & Co., Speyer & Co. and their allies."

Secretary of State Bryan will lay before the senate foreign relations committee today the Colombian treaty.

FREES $1,100,000 FOR ROADS

Illinois Supreme Court Decision Enables Treasurer to Pay Out Funds.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—The state supreme court decided yesterday that the Tice good roads law is constitutional. This permits the state treasurer to pay out at once $400,000 of money appropriated by the legislature and $700,000 after July 1. Some of the counties are ready to start work within a short time.

A. D. Gash, chairman of the state highway commission, estimated that road construction will be started this year in "sixty to seventy-five counties."

The counties are required to duplicate the amount contributed by the state—$1,100,000. In addition there will be considerable road construction in progressive counties without the aid of the state. Will county will spend $55,000, and Du Page $30,000 from their own funds.

START ACTION ON TRUSTS

Committees Push Forward Consideration of Bills.

Washington, June 17.—President Wilson's public charge that powerful interests are seeking to prevent anti-trust legislation has stirred the senate to action. The senate committee on judiciary continued its first perusal of the Clayton anti-trust bill. The committee on interstate commerce heard trolley line representatives in opposition to the inclusion of electric properties in the Rayburn stock and bond bill.

M'GOVERN HURT BY FALL

Governor of Wisconsin Thrown From His Horse.

Madison, June 17.—While taking his daily horseback ride Gov. Francis E. McGovern was injured when the horse stumbled, throwing the governor to the pavement. He was taken to a nearby residence and treated. The governor later in the day returned to the capitol to complete his day's work, but complained of severe pains in his legs.

Thirteen Drowned in Russia.

Krementchug, Russia, June 17.—Thirteen persons here drowned when a boat was upset in the river Dnieper.

THE LIGHT RUNNING, HEAVY DUTY LAWN MOWER.
Guaranteed Equal to the Best Made.

Made in Dixon. Boost! It is Dixon. Every lawn in Dixon should have a mower on it. Your dealer should have them. If he has not got them call us and we will supply you.

We wish to draw your attention to a few of the improvements in the Dixon Lawn Mower over all other makes.

First, to the floating bed knife bar which is swiveled on the rod that ties the back end of the mower securely together, and, with the other tie rod at the front makes the most rigid frame to be found in lawn mowers.

You will notice at each back corner of the bed knife a compression spring. These press the cutting edge of the bed knife up against the reel, or revolving knife, always adjusting itself.

We make the Dixon with a thrust ball bearing which is the same as is used in automobiles, making it the best.

The knives throughout are crucible steel. The lower bed knife is crucible lip steel.

The Dixon Mower will cut heavy grass without raising the handle and without lifting up behind and choking.

FIGHT TO HEAR TALK ON RIVER

Many London People Kept From Lecture of Theodore Roosevelt.

POLICE HAVE BIG TASK

Notables of British Geographical Society Are on Platform for the Discourse on Duvida Discovery.

London, June 17.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt appeared before the Royal Geographical society to tell the members and many of the most conspicuous men in London's public life how he put the "Duvida River" on the map of Brazil.

The society's theater in Burlington Gardens was packed to suffocation. Those anxious to hear the ex-president would easily have filled the largest hall in London, but he preferred a small auditorium, where an intimate talk would be possible. The theater seats only 70, but the society issued more than one thousand cards, while at the same time it refused hundreds of applications. The result was close crowding, while two or three hundred, including many prominent people who had come a long distance with cherished cards, were unable to get in.

Crowds Rush Doors.

The doors were closed and signs "Theater Full" were posted half an hour before the colonel arrived. The police had plenty to do in keeping back the disappointed men and women in evening dress, who waved their cards and shouted their names and claims for consideration.

The street was blocked with automobiles, and an hour after the lecture began silk-hatted groups continued frequent rushes, like a football line, upon the barred doors, fiercely criticizing the arrangements.

Large forces of police were waiting to shelter Colonel Roosevelt against a possible suffragist attack, but none was attempted. The heartiest applause greeted his appearance on the stage.

Notables on Platform.

Douglas William Freshfield, president of the society; Prince Louis of Battenberg, Sir Edward Grey, secretary of the state for foreign affairs; Earl Grey, ex-governor general of Canada; Lord Bryce, Earl Curzon and the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, were seated on the platform.

The lecture was mainly a repetition of that delivered at Washington in May. Colonel Roosevelt expressed his pleasure at appearing before the foremost geographical body in the world. He paid a tribute to Brazilian explorers and raised a laugh by saying: "There are still plenty of other things there besides my river to be put on the map."

He had been requested to give the members of the society personal details of his adventures and he talked much of ferocious bats, small fish which devour men, catfish which catch monkeys, and insects and snakes which made life miserable for him.

Credit for Discovery.

New York, June 17.—A critical review of Colonel Roosevelt's exploration of the River of Doubt, prepared by the American Geographical society of New York, will appear in the society's bulletin for July, it is announced. Full credit is given therein to Roosevelt-Rondon expedition's "valuable contribution to our knowledge of a little known section of the earth's surface."

BIG GUARD FOR KING GEORGE

Thousand Police Protect Him From Militants at Races.

London, June 17.—Never before were such precautions taken to guard members of the royal family from the suffragettes as were taken at the Ascot race course. The opening of the leading society race meeting found more than one thousand London policemen and hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard assembled on the course as reinforcements for the Berkshire county police. The six-mile route from Windsor castle to the course was lined all the way by policemen. The track was closely guarded and there were triple rails to prevent any unauthorized persons from reaching it.

James A. De Rothschild's Broadwood, a four-year-old bred in the United States, won the Ascot stakes.

CAMDEN GOES TO SENATE

Kentucky Governor Appoints Successor to Late W. O. Bradley.

Frankfort, Ky., June 17.—Governor McCreary signed the commission of Johnson N. Camden of Versailles as United States senator from Kentucky to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Senator W. O. Bradley. Mr. Camden will serve until November, when a senator will be elected to fill out Bradley's term, which expires March 4, 1915. Senator Camden's father was United States senator from West Virginia for eight years.

Ask Carpentier to Referee.

Paris, June 17.—Georges Carpentier, the heavyweight champion pugilist of Europe, has been asked to act as referee of the Johnson-Moran fight, which is to be held here June 21.
